AND USE

1997, 1998, 1999

STATEMENT NO. 4718

Amount of Use

- C. The quantities shown in the table represent the combined diversions through Merced Irrigation District's (MercedID) Main Canal and Northside Canal under Licenses 2685, 6047, 11395, and its pre-1914 water right documented through this Statement of Water Diversion and Use (No. 4718). Quantities diverted through MercedID's conveyance system include water delivered to Stevinson Water District pursuant to Stevinson's water rights defined by court order (adjudicated settlement).

In addition to the water use identified on the attached table for 1997, MercedID petitioned and received authorization for changes to its water rights to facilitate a water transfer to the US Bureau of Reclamation. A total of 47,489 acre-feet was provided to the US Bureau of Reclamation in 1997. In 1999, MercedID provided approximately 94,198 acre-feet pursuant to the San Joaquin River Agreement (D.1641).

Purpose of Use

- D. The following are acres irrigated, including double-cropped acres in each year.

1997: 103,148

1998: 86,008

1999: 96,578

In addition, an unknown number of stock are watered from this supply.

ITEM CONTINUATION

GENERAL INFORMATION PERTAINING TO WATER RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA

There are two principal types of surface water rights in California. They are riparian and appropriative rights.

A riparian right enables an owner of land bordering a natural lake or stream to take and use water on his riparian land. Riparian land must be in the same watershed as the water source and must never have been severed from the sources of supply by an intervening parcel without reservation of the riparian right to the severed parcel. Generally, a riparian water user must share the water supply with other riparian users. Riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water for later use or divert water which originates in a different watershed, water previously stored by others, return flows from use of groundwater, or other "foreign" water to the natural stream system.

An appropriative right is required for use of water on nonriparian land and for storage of water. Generally, appropriative rights may be exercised only when there is a surplus not needed by riparian water users. Since 1914, new appropriators have been required to obtain a permit and license from the State. Appropriative rights can be granted to waters "foreign" to the natural stream system.

Statements of Water Diversion and Use must be filed by riparian and pre 1914 appropriative water users as set forth in Water Code section 5100 with specific exceptions. The filing of a statement (1) provides a record of water use, (2) enables the State to notify such users if someone proposes a new appropriation upstream from their diversions, and (3) assists the State to determine if additional water is available for future appropriators.

The above discussion is provided for general information. For more specific information concerning water rights, please contact an attorney or write to this office. We have several pamphlets available. They include: (1) Statements of Water Diversion and Use, (2) Information Pertaining to Water Rights in California, and (3) Appropriation of Water in California.

The quantities shown in the table represent the combined diversions through Merced Irrigation District's (MercedID) Main Canal and Northside Canal under Licenses 2685, 6047, 11395, and its pre-1914 water right documented through this Statement of Water Diversion and Use (No. 4718). Quantities diverted through MercedID's conveyance system include water delivered to Stevinson Water District pursuant to Stevinson's water rights defined by court order (adjudicated settlement).

In addition to the water use identified, MercedID transferred the following quantities of water to the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, EWA, and pursuant to the San Joaquin River Agreement (D.1641).

2000: 83,998 AF
2001: 79,614 AF
2002: 38,326 AF

Purpose of Use

- D. The following are acres irrigated, including double-cropped acres in each year.

2000: 91,066
2001: 95,293
2002: 98,307

In addition, an unknown number of stock are watered from this supply.

- F.1.b. Merced has claimed credit based on its maximum surface water diversion made in 1984 through the Main Canal and Northside Canal since 1979; the year Water Code Section 1011 was enacted. MercedID has made this claim because it best represents MercedID's overall conservation/management efforts which are not a single conservation project that MercedID is attempting to document or quantify through this report. Merced's conservation efforts are ongoing and vary by year type, which means there is not a specific time frame from which to measure savings.

GENERAL INFORMATION PERTAINING TO WATER RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA

There are two principal types of surface water rights in California. They are riparian and appropriative rights.

A riparian right enables an owner of land bordering a natural lake or stream to take and use water on his riparian land. Riparian land must be in the same watershed as the water source and must never have been severed from the source of supply by an intervening parcel without reservation of the riparian right to the severed parcel. Generally, a riparian water user must share the water supply with other riparian users. Riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water for later use or to divert water which originates in a different watershed, or return flows from use of groundwater.

An appropriative right is required for use of water on nonriparian land and for storage of water. Generally, appropriative rights may be exercised only when there is a surplus not needed by riparian water users. Since 1914 new appropriators have been required to obtain a permit and license from the State.

Statements of Water Diversion and Use must be filed by riparian and pre-1914 appropriative water users. The filing of a statement (1) provides a record of water use, (2) enables the State to notify such users if someone proposes a new appropriation upstream from their diversion, and (3) assists the State to determine if additional water is available for future appropriators.

The above discussion is provided for general information. For more specific information concerning water rights, please contact an attorney or write to this office. We have several pamphlets available. They include:

- "Statements of Water Diversion and Use"
- "Information Pertaining to Water Rights in California"
- "Water Rights for Stockponds Constructed Prior to 1969"
- "Appropriation of Water in California"
